Ozburn-Hessey Logistics Adds Facility in Canada: Global 3PL Increases North American Network

BRENTWOOD, Tennessee—Ozburn-Hessey Logistics (OH Logistics) expands its network again announcing today the recent lease of a facility in Mississauga, Ontario, Canada, approximately 15 minutes from the Toronto International Airport in the Heartland Industrial Park.

“Because all of our growth is client-directed we are able in a very tangible way to grow with and be flexible for our clients by opening facilities in new markets to support their expansion strategies,” said Scott McWilliams, CEO. “We look forward to operating in this new facility with our client.”

“We are delighted to open this operation in the Toronto, Canada area,” commented Bob Spieth President of Contract Logistics for the company. “We were able to leverage our resources to meet our clients’ changing needs and to expand our network into this marketplace. The ProVenture team was tremendously helpful throughout the process of identifying and leasing this great facility.”

The facility was leased primarily for one of the 3PL’s clients and the company intends to lease additional space as needed in Canada. A group of executives from the OH Logistics Brentwood, TN headquarters will be on hand for a grand opening celebration planned for the operation at the end of October. Plans are to begin shipping from the facility on November 1, 2007.

Jeb Atkinson and Randy Wolcott at ProVenture, advised Ozburn-Hessey Logistics in conjunction with Rob Renaud and Sam Meer, both vice presidents of GVA Devencore.
